Minor exposure to cyber-attack case of Albania

On July 15th, Albania was subjected to a significant cyberattack. For more than two weeks, all government offices were halted. Although the EHEA website is kept independent of any relevant government servers, the following subdued consequences did occur:

- Few resources were affected temporarily, including the recording of a brief segment of a meeting that was held that week;
- Excessive workload for IT experts;
- For a few weeks, email communication with the host Ministry was interrupted, lost, or suspended.
