At the national level: the Ministry of Science, Education and Sports started an ad hoc collection of data with a perspective to develop National tracing system for all graduates (Survey time: September 2013 - December 2013; Target group: graduates from professionally oriented study programmes delivered by polytechnics and professionals schools of higher education who graduated starting from academic year 2005/2006; All 39 public and private polytechnics and colleages were included, total number of 23052 persons (11576 man-50,21% and 11476 women -49,76%). Collected data has been forwarded to Croatian Employment Service for matching with data on unemployed and Croatian Service for Pension System for matching with data on employed persons.

At the institutional level: University of Zagreb, Faculty of Law carried out an ad hoc survey in the period January-December 2012; Target group: graduates of social work in year 2003 and 2011 and graduates of law in 2011; total number of 472 graduates). V.6.2. Do educational authorities systematically take account of their results in higher education programme planning or for other purposes?

Yes ▼

The data will be analysed by October 2014 when the results will be published.

 $V.6.2.1. \ Please specify which educational authorities use information on the labour market situation of graduates and indicate the mechanisms through which such information is used (e.g. through performance evaluation/payment by results/Quality Assurance). Please also provide the full reference(s) to relevant document(s).$

Educational authorities do not systematically take account of their results in higher education programme planning. However, the first steps have been done in order to develop such a system as explained in the reply under previous question. After the first phase and collecting data on graduates from professionally oriented study programmes delivered by polytechnics and colleges of higher education the Ministry will focus on graduates at the professionally oriented study programmes delivered by the universities. The second phase is expected to start at the beginning of October 2014 when the analysis of data collocated in the first phase will be completed. The development of the National tracing system for all graduates is expected to start in second half of 2015. The higher education institutions are encouraged to develop their own internal tracking systems. However, the Ministry of science education and sports started development of the National Information System of Higher Education with the aim of enabling data collection and exchange of data between higher education institutions and the Ministry. The National Tracking System will be compatible with the National Information System of Higher Education.

It is envisaged that the data and the analysis will be used for strategic development of higher education, especially in preparation of new study programs according to the labour market needs. The National Tracking System will enable creation of legal preconditions for better performance evaluation of higher education institutions, as well as more transparent financing models.

Students studying part-time pay (or are likely to pay) higher fees for the same volume of study (i.e. the same number of credits) than students following typical study arrangements

Full time students enroling in the first year of first and second cycle are fully subsidised and do not have to pay any tuition fees. Other full time students pay fees according to their academic success: if they accumulate 55 and more ECTS in previous academic year they don't have to pay tuition fees, from 30 to 55 ECTS they have to pay according to accumulated numbers of ECTS and for less than 30 ECTS they have to pay full tuition fee. All part time students have to pay full tuition fee.

Full time students are enrolled in conventional HE programmes while part time students are enrolled under different conditions. There are two major differences between them. Firstly, delivery of these programmes is adjusted to specific needs of the part time students and secondly, the part time students are not exempted from paying tuition fees.
VI.9. Which of the following statements best describes the extent to which HE institutions offer part-time studies or other alternative forms of study?

1) Funding-increasing the financial grant amount for Erasmus student mobility was envisaged and the Action plan for removing obstacles and enhancing learning mobility for the period 2010-2012. It was implemented in 2011: students receiving a grant for a study period abroad continued to be entitled to national scholarship awarded by the Ministry of Science, Education and Sports (MSES).
2) Language-MSES gave policy recommendation to HE institutions related to the increase in the number of courses and study programmes in foreign languages in line with their capabilities and encouraged HE institution participation in Erasmus Mundus projects.
3) Legal issues the fact that these issues do not represent obstacles to mobility is largely the result of the implementation of the Action plan for removing obstacles and enhancing learning mobility for the period 2010-2012. The elaboration and the implementation of this Plan was coordinated by the MSES. The Plan covered a number of the most critical issues such as: improving the system of taxes applying to scholarships, facilitating a procedure for issuing residence permit, tuning the health insurance procedure etc.
4) Motivating and informing students-a web site www.studyincroatia.hr has been set up offering a single point of information for foreign students on all aspects related to incoming mobility. Regarding national students, the Agency for Mobility and EU programmes regularly holds info days and webinars for HE institutions (EU coordinators).
